JAMAICA PLAIN FRIENDLY SOCIETY.

Another year of quiet work has been done by our society, through its case committee and visitors. Eighty-three cases, including about two hundred and eighty-eight persons, have been investigated and considered, many of these having needed special care and regular visiting. Thirty-one women have received sewing. The aid given to the aged and the sick is the most satisfactory; the least satisfactory is that to the families of incompetent or intemperate men, but sometimes, for the sake of little children, temporary aid must be given in these cases.

To insist upon the necessity of work is much more difficult than to give charity, but it is the thing of the greatest importance when shiftlessness is the cause of poverty. A visitor may do very helpful work by interesting herself in the children, and by keeping up her friendly relations with them until the time of dependence is past. This interest should not be shown by almsgiving unless this is an absolute necessity.

Children of tender years are often kept from school to care for the younger ones, while the mother is out working, or ill. In some cases this may be necessary, but it may often be possible to help the mother to make some better plan. In times of illness a visitor may obtain the help of a neighbor for small compensation, or if the illness is sufficiently serious, a district nurse may be called, unless hospital care is necessary. All aid and advice which may take the burden of work and care from little girls of school age are of great value to a whole family. A woman often feels obliged to go out to work because her husband is incompetent or intemperate, leaving the children without proper care. It is difficult to deal with such cases, but a visitor, studying the conditions, may be able to change and improve them by urging and helping the man to take his proper place as the wage earner of the family.

The weekly meetings of our case committee and visitors are very important and valuable, giving an opportunity to discuss all of these questions and conditions, so that each family may be helped according to its individual needs. Our need of new visitors still continues, and we earnestly hope that some of our young women may be moved to join our small working force this year. By first attending the weekly committee meetings a new comer may soon learn our methods of work, and be ready to take charge of, at least, one or two families.

Every case brings new experiences, and the older visitors are always learning, so no one who sympathizes with the poor and suffering need hesitate about entering upon this work.

It is hardly right that an old society, the only organization actively connected with all of the churches of this community, should ever suffer for the want of willing workers.

It will be noticed by our figures that a smaller number of women received sewing, also that more money was spent last year than the year before. These differences are accounted for, not by any change in our methods of work, but by the fact that there were more cases of illness where special aid was required, and where the sewing could not be given.

The cases must necessarily vary from year to year, and the figures in our treasurer's report must show corresponding variations.

Our society has met with a serious loss in the recent death of Mrs. Robert W. Wood, who has been a member of its board of officers since 1877. Mrs. Wood has never failed, except in times of illness or trouble, in her loyal attendance at our monthly meetings, and her constant help and interest through these many years, have been of inestimable value. She will be sadly missed in this society as in the many other philanthropies to which she had given her wise and generous aid.

Three other loyal friends to our work have been taken from us by death in the last few months, Mrs. Henry D. Morse and Mrs. James Lee, who had for several years served on our list of visitors, Mrs. Morse also on our executive board, also Mrs. David S. Greenough, who in the early days of our organization had given us valuable aid in preparing sewing for our women, and who had always taken personal interest in special cases of need. Such great losses are keenly felt by those who are still in the work, and they certainly emphasize the need of fresh interest and loyalty among all who desire that such work shall go on among the poor and suffering of this district.

We thank all of our friends who have helped the society in any way, and we earnestly ask for a continuance of their help and interest.

Second-hand clothing, boots and shoes are always acceptable to the visitors.

Our room at Curtis Hall is open from 10 to 1 on week days, except Saturdays and holidays, from October 1st to May 1st.

A list of women needing work of various kinds, among them competent seamstresses, also a list of men out of work, will be found on our agents' books. A supply of well made plain underclothing, also children's dresses and aprons, are kept for sale at the hall.

ELLEN C. MORSE, for Case Committee.
